Zorian Bat Company Named Exclusive Sponsor of Dan Duquette Academy Wood Bat Tournaments

Cranston, R.I. (March 1, 2011) – Baseball players of all ages will get a rare opportunity to compete with wood bats this summer in the Dan Duquette Sports Academy Wood Bat Classic Tournaments held in Hinsdale, Massachusetts. The July tournament will feature teams from ages 10-14 while an adult tournament is scheduled in September. Zorian Bat Company was named the exclusive sponsor of these first-annual tournaments.

"We are thrilled to partner with the Zorian Bat Company this summer," said Dan Duquette, president of the Dan Duquette Sports Academy. "We're giving youth and adult players alike the unique chance to play with Major-League quality wood in Zorian bats."

"We're proud to be the exclusive sponsor the Dan Duquette Wood Bat Classic tournaments," said Robert Zorian, president of Zorian Bat Company. "The Dan Duquette Sports Academy draws some of the best youth baseball players in Western Massachusetts and beyond, and this tournament is a terrific opportunity for them to compete amongst each other with wood bats. Hitters, pitchers, and defensive players alike are easier to set apart in wood bat play."

The youth tournament runs from July 1-4 and is open to age categories of 14 and under, 12 and under, and 10 and under. The team fee is $800; participant fee is $195 (includes meals, lodging and wood bats) with a five-game guarantee and possible sixth game. The adult tournament is scheduled for September 3-5. The team fee is $675; participant fee is $145 (includes meals, lodging and wood bats) with a four-game guarantee and possible fifth game. For registration and more information on the tournaments, log on to www.duquettesports.com or call 617-645-1257. For information on Zorian bats, log on to www.zorianbats.com or call 401-709-4675.
